THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF ARTS AND LETTERS ANNOUNCES 2016 LITERATURE AWARD WINNERS

New York, March 22, 2016 – The American Academy of Arts and Letters announced today the names of 21 writers who will receive its 2016 awards in literature. The awards will be presented in New York at the Academy's annual Ceremonial in May. The literature prizes, totaling $550,000, honor both established and emerging writers of fiction, nonfiction, drama, and poetry. The Academy's 250 members propose candidates, and a rotating committee of writers selects winners. This year's award committee members were John Guare, Sharon Olds, Anne Tyler, Rosanna Warren, and Joy Williams.

The American Academy of Arts and Letters was established in 1898 to “foster, assist, and sustain an interest in literature, music, and the fine arts.” Election to the Academy is considered the highest formal recognition of artistic merit in this country. Founding members include William Merritt Chase, Kenyon Cox, Daniel Chester French, Childe Hassam, Henry James, Theodore Roosevelt, Elihu Vedder, and Woodrow Wilson. The Academy is currently comprised of 250 of America’s leading voices in the fields of Art, Architecture, Literature, and Music. The Academy presents exhibitions of art, architecture, and manuscripts, and readings and performances of new musicals. It is located in three landmark buildings designed by McKim, Mead & White, Cass Gilbert, and Charles Pratt Huntington, on Audubon Terrace at 155 Street and Broadway, New York City.
